

A HEAP OF RUINS.

A Brick Hotel at Hartford Wrecked by an Explosion.

SIXTY PERSONS BURIED!

The Flames Add their Fury to the Work of Desolation.

A FIRE AT FREDONIA!

Three Buildings With their Contents Consumed—One Life Lost.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 18.—The shock of a tremendous explosion woke the residents for blocks around the corner of High and Allen streets at about five o'clock this morning. On that corner stood the Park Central, a five-story brick structure about thirty feet front and one hundred feet deep. The first explosion was followed by a second, and then a third, and finally a fourth, which was the most powerful. The explosion threw a bed with a sleeping woman upon the street, and the heavy doors landed a block away. By 9 a. m. the flames were so far subdued that the rescuers were able to get at the victims. Some were pinned beneath heavy timbers upon which rested the roof, and others were killed by the work of rescue extremely hazardous. The house had accommodated about 100 guests. A tendering of the hotel manager applied for a room late Saturday evening was informed that they were full, so it is believed that at least eighty persons were in the house, of whom perhaps twenty escaped. The victims were mostly employees, who occupied the wing of the hotel which has not yet fallen.

About six persons have been sent to the hospital. Owing to the destruction of the register of the hotel manager, the guests could not be identified. The catastrophe is generally supposed to have been caused by an explosion of the boiler, although some doubt has been expressed on this point, as the building had been supposed to be unsafe. It was built on a foundation of the railroad, and the work of the railroad men was going forward systematically. At 10 a. m. the military call was sounded on the bells, and the fire department companies to assist in preserving order and assisting in the work of rescue.

Max Gladys, editor of the Hartford Herald; George J. Engler, clerk; Harry Perry, night clerk; and the hotel manager, who was killed, were the only ones who were not recovered. George Ketchum, brother of the proprietor, was killed. Mr. Pendleton, of Indiana, who was collecting subscriptions to complete the monument of Thomas A. Hendricks, is among the missing. Mr. James, an agent of the White Star line, was taken out at midnight, but he could not be badly injured, although not able to stand. He says that John Ketchum and wife were killed, but the others were still alive.

Buried in the ruins—John M. Houseman, of the New York company; Boston; George W. Root, traveler for Watte, Williams & Co., of Boston; A. F. Tillsted, of the New York Chemical company, of Chicago.

Taken out dead—George M. Gaines, night porter.

At hospital—Jacob Turpin, colored waiter; Helen Lapointe, guest; Jennie Becker, United States clerk; and the hotel manager, who was killed, were the only ones who were not recovered.

The hotel was built about fifteen years ago and cost, with furniture, $120,000. The soil was soft and although it was built on a foundation of the railroad, it was not supposed to be unsafe. The insurance is $38,000.

It is stated that no fragments of the boiler have yet been found, and the mill takes against the theory of a boiler explosion.

About 1 o'clock, amid enthusiastic cheers from the crowd, Landford Ketchum and wife were taken out alive and with only minor cuts, and with a relief, no small wonder, considering they had been imprisoned in the debris of the hotel.

The extent of their injuries cannot be ascertained at this time, but they were taken to the hospital soon after. Walter Gay, of New York, agent of the DeWitt-Morris company, was taken out alive and sent to the hospital. The dead body of J. C. Hill, of the DeWitt-Morris company, was taken out of the room 29, had also been taken out. Daniel Morton, brakeman, and F. Haines, baggage man, were taken out of the room 29, had also been taken out. The bodies of the two men were taken out of the room 29, had also been taken out.

The force of the explosion shattered all the glass in the hotel, and broke single panes in buildings a block away. Its cause is still a mystery and it will take some time to uncover the roller.

Mrs. Frank Wesson's children are reported to be in the ruins.

Very Special Bureau.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 18.—The most disastrous conflagration as to the loss of life that has visited Kansas City in many years broke out at 10:45 a. m. on Tuesday.

The fire broke out in the building at Tenth and Trost avenue, conducted by Fuller & Hoffman, J. E. Hoffman, owner, and partners, was killed by jumping from the second story window. Several employees were seriously burned and many others perished in their stalls and the building and contents were destroyed, resulting in a loss of $75,000. Within a few moments after the fire was discovered the interior of the building was a mass of flames and the hope of saving the stock was lost. The men soon had four streams of water on the building and the fire was kept under control. A water main had burst and the supply was cut off. The company could only keep the flames from spreading. The cause is thought to be a defective stove.

A Fatal Fire.

FREDONIA, Kan., Feb. 18.—The most disastrous fire in the history of Fredonia occurred last night. Three brick buildings, with nearly all their contents, were destroyed, and a small building was crushed by falling walls. Only nine persons were killed, but many narrow escapes from death by suffocation and falling walls.

A Well as Trained Lion.

WASHINGTON, D. C., February 18.—General John A. Halderman, of Kansas, formerly United States Minister to Spain, has received a letter from the King of Spain stating that a handsome golden jewel-case had been sent him.

CONGRESSIONAL CLATTER.

Louisiana Election Outcome For an Arring-Filiberating on the Tax Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Hear, the committee on privileges and elections, to which were referred the resolution offered by Chandler and Gibson for an investigation of the recent election in Louisiana and other states and memorials as to political association reported them all back to the committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

The committee on the table, and also reported an original resolution instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire whether in any state the free and lawful expression of the will of the people in the election of members of the first congress and ascertaining the results thereof has been prevented by violence, intimidation, fraud or other illegal means.

ORDER WENT OUT.

The Assasin of J. M. Clayton Under the Officer's Eyes.

HORSE THIEVES HAD LUCK.

Judges Lynch Ready and no Appeal Will be Taken.

A PICNIC FOR PIRATES!

A Car Load of Uncles Sam's Dollars Spotted by Thieves.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 19.—It is rumored here that the arrest of the persons who planned and aided in the assassination of the Hon. John M. Clayton at Plummerville, Arkansas, will soon be accomplished. One of the suspected parties belongs to a family whose reputation extends beyond the limits of Arkansas, being well known throughout the country. The person in question is a man of considerable prominence, and the officials, before making an arrest are endeavoring to establish to a certainty, what up to the present, is only a well grounded suspicion of guilt.

The Assasin of Col. Cla. was arrested at Little Rock, Ark., February 18. A Special Dispatch to the Globe-Democrat says: The newspaper men of Little Rock, and not posing as detectives, are nevertheless, sparing no efforts to ferret out the assassins of Colonel John M. Clayton at Plummerville. If the officers there have any yet made a single arrest it is known to the public. It is now reported that, before John M. Clayton went to Plummerville, but after certain citizens of Corvallis had been arrested by the federal authorities for interfering with elections, the Republican State Committee made a trip to that city. The Republican committee proposed to use its influence to have the prosecutions dropped, provided advantage as to the true result of the election in Howard Township, in which Plummerville is situated, was not made. The plan was first suggested to John M. Clayton by a Republican lawyer, Mr. Morrell, who was retained by Clayton to his friends and advisers in Little Rock. He came to Little Rock on January 20, and was retained to that effect to Clayton's friends. The proposition was considered two or three days by the committee, and finally accepted, with the single exception of a refusal to withdraw the reward of $10,000 for the capture of the ball-box thieves, which had been offered by the Republican State Committee. The committee then proceeded to the consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill, and the amendments reported by the committee on appropriations and agreed to by the senate were for the first time passed by the house at Fort Scott, Kansas, $8,000.

Harris interrupted the reading of the bill, and asked for the name of the member of unconfirmed nominations. He thought it to be as much the duty of the committee to see that the bill was not passed as to perform any other service. He recalled the facts of the case of the late Senator Clayton, who was elected in 1880 to the senate, and the decision of the Morrill committee to remove him from office. He claimed, as it is well known to the public leaders in this city, that they were not in the interest of the bill, but in the interest of the crime they were asserting that the close connection of the crime with the bill was a matter of fact. Blair—And I give notice that at the conclusion of this bill I will move that the committee be instructed to consider the joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution providing for the removal of members of the senate and house of representatives from office for conviction of a crime.

The reading of the bill was resumed. The senate amendment to pay Mrs. Waite $8,745, the balance of one year's salary, was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

Plumb gave notice of an amendment making honorably discharged soldiers and sailors eligible for appointment, transfer and promotion subject only to such extent as may be provided by law. He also gave notice of a resolution to amend the bill for the removal of members of the senate and house of representatives from office for conviction of a crime.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The house yesterday passed the bill for the removal of members of the senate and house of representatives from office for conviction of a crime, by a vote of 29 yeas and 28 nays.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

The bill was passed by the house, and encountered considerable opposition, but was finally agreed to, yeas 29—nays 28.

</